

Hybrid Tea Roses

Hybrid Teas and Grandifloras are characterized by large shapely blooms containing 30+ petals. Flowers are typically 1-3 per stem on Hybrid Teas and 3-5 for Grandifloras. All varieties we have currently bloom on new as well as old growth and rebloom all summer under good culture, sometimes resting between flushes. This group benefits from a regular fungicide regiment and need their canes mulched heavily to survive our winters unless otherwise indicated.

- Avant Garde $22.99 / 30 petals, 5" diameter / Mild fragrance / Upright habit. Exhibition style red roses streaked and splashed with pure white. Long stems and lasts in a vase. Lush deep green foliage.

Floribunda Roses

This group is characterized by their ability to bear profuse clusters of medium sized flowers with more than one bloom at any time. All varieties we have currently bloom on new as well as old wood. Floribundas as a class are a little hardier and easier to care for than Teas or Grandifloras. Most benefit from a regular fungicide regiment and need their canes mulched heavily to survive our winters unless otherwise indicated.

- Bee Heaven New $22.99 / 30-35 petals, 4" / Mild fruity fragrance / Compact habit to 4' tall. Rounded petals of clear yellow occur continuously all summer. Hardier than other floribundas, attractive to bees.
- Dancing in the Dark $22.99 / 20-25 petals, 3.5" / Mild fragrance / Low habit. Ruffled petals of dark dusky blood-red open from near-black buds. Healthy matte green foliage.

- Earth Angel $22.99 / 40+ petals, to 1.75" in diameter / Strong citrus, raspberry fragrance / Rounded, bushy habit. Very full English style blooms of cream with shell pink centers resemble peonies. Bright glossy disease resistant leaves. A European introduction with good health and vigor.
- Julia Child $22.99 / 35+ petals, 3.5" / Strong licorice and spice fragrance / Low bushy rounded habit. Full butter gold blooms of old-fashioned form. Very disease resistant and floriferous. 2006 AARS winner.

- White Lies $22.99 / 20 petals, 3.5" / Light fragrance / Upright habit to 4-5' tall. Blooms open pure white, quickly blushing to picoteed with red before turning all maroon. Prolific bloomer with glossy leaves.

Shrub and Miniature Roses

Shrub roses are also known as landscape roses due to their low maintenance, disease resistance and ever blooming habit. Although the individual blooms are smaller than other roses they are hardier and require no winter protection in our area. Fungicides are not needed for this group if they are under good culture and spacing. Miniature roses are hardy as well although they tend to be prone to blackspot due to their dense habit.

- Alfred Sisley $22.99 / 25-30 petals, 3-4" / Mild fruity fragrance / Low-height, rounded and bushy habit. Boasting many petals for a shrub rose, a mild fragrance, and a novel color of orange striped with cream.

Groundcover and Tree Roses

Groundcover roses spread wider than tall, often rooting where they touch the ground. The blooms are smaller than most roses, although they recur in large clusters throughout the season. Groundcover roses require no special winter protection, although for best appearance they need cut down 4-6" after winter before growth resumes in the spring. Fungicides are not needed for this group if they are under good culture. Tree roses need special winter protection, either by moving containerized plants to a sheltered area or by severing half of the roots, lying down horizontally and then mulching heavily.
